

We believe signing up for a library card is a political act because a healthy democracy depends on well-informed and engaged citizens. Public libraries give everyone access to information and community resources in their own backyard. Click below to sign up for your card.

